Evolution of Hindu Temple Architecture

In Gupta architecture, the square was considered the most perfect form and temples were designed to be appreciated from all sides so that each carries decorative architectural features. Most temples also adopt a square plan with the single cubicle garbhagriha in the centre.

Gupta Architecture - Ancient History Encyclopedia

Early temples consisted of only a garbhagriha, but over time additions were built and copied across temple sites to create, by the 10th century CE, a canonical architectural style. The most obvious of these features were a portico entrance (ardhmandapa) and pillared hall (mandapa) which led to the garbhagriha – features which developed in the Deccan from the 8th century CE.
