> Get the Paperback and Receive the Kindle eBook for FREE Do you desire to have an idea on what NLP means? NLP simply means Neuro-Linguistic Programming. Neuro can also be related to your neurology; Linguistic refers to the language; Programming refers to how this neural language works. Furthermore, learning NLP is like learning the language of your mind! In NLP compiled by Manuel Anderson, we have a way of saying: the conscious mind is setting goals and the unconscious mind is setting goals. Your subconscious is not out to get you, but to come for you, whatever you want in life. You might not know how to communicate properly; then, you will continue to bring steaming bowls of liver stew from the kitchen. In fact, continue now and remember, if there was one thing you could change, a habit you could break, what would it be? Neurolinguistic programming is like a user manual for the brain. When you complete your NLP training, you will learn to speak your mind's language fluently, so that the useful "server" that is your unconscious mind finally understands what you really want from life. The chapters of this book will enlighten you on how to analyze people: discover how to read and influence people with proven body language and persuasion methods, even if you are a clueless beginner.

The Origins of NLP brings together the recollections and thoughts of some of the main protagonists from the very early days of NLP. In 1971 Richard Bandler and Frank Pucelik were students at Kreslege College at the University of California Santa Cruz. They had a strong mutual interest in Gestalt Therapy, Frank because of his traumatic time in Vietnam and because he had been working with some disaffected and drug-addicted kids, and Richard because he had been working with Science and Behavior Books on transcribing and editing Fritz Perls' seminal work, The Gestalt Approach and Eyewitness to Therapy. They started a local Gestalt group and ran 2-3 sessions a week collaborating and experimenting with the language of therapy. They started achieving some brilliant results but were having problems transferring their skills to others and so Richard invited one of their college professors, John Grinder, to observe what they were doing in order that he would, hopefully, be able to deconstruct what they were doing that was so effective. John was a professor of Linguistics and was instantly impressed with the work that they were doing. He was able to add more structure and in due course the three of them formalised what is now known as the Meta Model. NLP, or Meta as it was known then, was born.
